Decidedly Irregular Changes in the Early Transactions.

American Shares Erratic in London. Several Strong Pentures of the Industrial Quarter-Tennessee Coal and Iron Leads the Specialties-Local Tractions a Centre of Interest.

NEW YORK Feb 5 -The initial dealings in the Stock Market this merning resulted in some decidedly irregular changes in prices, but, for the most part, a very strong undertone prevailed.

Irregular changes were shown also in the London market for American stocks, circumstance which accounted in part for the noted tendency in the local dealings, as the first prices here were quite closely in response to those sent from features of the railway list were Burl ngton and Quincy, the Watash shares Norfolk and Western, and the Eries. Interest was again exceptionally active in the local traction issues, where Manhattan was the feature on this morning's published reports regarding the lease of that property by the New York Central. While these rumors were not altogether credited, they were nevertheless not without effect as regarded the dealings in the stock.

The market opened uninfluenced by any developments of novelty over night. A number of very gratifying statements of railway traffic for the lest week of January were submitted, among which the best showings were made by the St. Paul and Missouri Pacific companies. Indications of extensive gold shipments this week seem of the country addition to this the talk of some deal in the trade that will practically eliminate competition is insistent and confident. The outlook for the group is good whatever the immediate movements of the stocks may be.

The earnings of the St. Paul for the fourth week of January show an increase of $95,857. The year has begun anspiciously with the company as far as earnings are concerned. There was an advance in St. Paul at the opening of the morning but later it sold off. An upward movement in the stock is looked for if the market continues strong. The other grangers held their own fairly well but made no new advances.

Hections from her husband. Mrs. Bisagno left her husband and took charge of Casoline's household. Bisagno was surprised by the decamping of his wife to the home of his rival, but he did not take the law into his own hands. Casoline suddenly died, and Bisagno for a time was disconsolate. It was not the ordinary sorrow which comes to a man who has lost a friend, but was due to the fact that his chance for revenge seemed gone forever. Suddenly a happy thought came. He would get four white horses and have them harnessed to a hack. Then he would occupy a prominent place in the funeral cortege. With mingled feelings of exultation, hate, and joy he proceeded to carry his plans into execution. With white fections from her husband. Mrs. Bisagno
